

Kennedy Amaya

Writing 01 section 54

Describe an example of your leadership experience in which you have positively influenced others, helped resolve disputes, or contributed to group efforts over time.

A leadership experience I had was in my senior year. I'm in a program in high school called Energy Academy which is a 3-year program. In my senior year a group and I were tasked to help the new sophomores in a presentation they will be doing. I check up on them to make sure they are doing their work. I also make sure to comment on their slides if something doesn't make sense or to add more information.

Every person has a creative side, and it can be expressed in many ways: problem solving, original and innovative thinking, and artistically, to name a few. Describe how you express your creative side.

One of my favorite way to express my creative side is to start writing a story. In my free time, I like to think of an idea and start writing it down on paper. Later I begin writing the story from those ideas. Another way I expressed my creative side is by trying to make up random inventions. For examples, one idea of mine is a glasses that can see other peoples pain both physical and mental pain. This device has helped in the medical field in both doctors and therapist.

What would you say is your greatest talent or skill? How have you developed and demonstrated that talent over time?

What I believe my greatest skill is picking things up on the go. What I mean is that when someone is showing me something, like a math problem or how to fix something, I have a better understanding of it. The way I developed it is to understand anything that I'm working on such as physics. In physics, I try to understand it by picturing the problem in my head. A way I demonstrated is by doing the problem the teachers assigned.

Think about an academic subject that inspires you. Describe how you have furthered this interest inside and/or outside of the classroom.

One academic subject that I'm Interested in is mathematics. I've been interested in math since I was little. The way I further interest this subject is to help other people. I believe that by helping other people in a subject you have knowledge of helps you better understand that subject better. For example, I was helping a classmate with a homework assignment with I saw a shorter way on doing those problems and it helps me and my classmate understand the materials more. Making it more interested in learning more about it.

Commented [KA1]: the first thing to do in these questions is to read them and decide which one to do. In the first question, I choose this because I knew that I had experience in this field. You should pick questions what you have an answer too not ones that are easy.

Commented [KA2]: What I did wrong was not tell the was the positive impact that I had on the group. Not saying what disputes did I resolve or what contribution did I had in the group. Also on reading this back, I didn't write it right, there was no flow in the paragraph and no real answer to the question. I also could have made it longer by also adding my FFA experience in it.

Commented [KA3]: This one's my fault I thought that this questions was easy for me to write and so I choose this.

Commented [KA4]: This part is so trash reading this back. My answer only answers one part of the question and not even in a good way. There was no problem solving or how it help in my life. I also didn't show that I finish anything so it could have been seen that I was lazy. None of these show my readiness for college. You have to show that the college should be happy they had you apply here.

Commented [KA5]: Also my greatest talent or skill was math like what was wrong with me. While math is a great skill to have it is the same for other people too. Remember to answer the question because I didn't like how I developed the skill other people have Commented [KA6]: Both of those should have been written. they both talk about math so they basically says the same thing over and over which is never good.

Commented [KA7]: I shouldn't write that I like helping people if it doesn't apply to my major. What does like to help people when I study biology. Also I wrote nothing about what I furthered do outside of the classroom.

Before I began to fill out my college application, I knew I had to stand out from the rest of the pile. This is not my proudest work that I did. In my style of writing I never really talked about myself and I never really could. I was uncomfortable about writing about me that each one took more than one hour to make. As in the comments I chose these questions because I had experience in the field or had something to answer it. From what I was thinking was that someone would be reading this. This person was someone that I needed to impress in my words and experience. This defiantly did change the tone of my writing because I need to be memorable not just putting information out there. I wanted them to say “wow” and be impress not just reading it and putting it down.

Overall my statement was terrible. Most of the times I didn’t answer all the questions. There was no flow just point after point. I write an example but didn’t end it.

My writing was different then to what Magee says. 3 out of the 4 answers had me talking about relationships than achievements so I didn’t fit into the “correct” writing for me.